

Randall D. Ollis

Professional Competencies:

- Weather research and data interpretation
- Radar analysis and short term forecast
- Micro-climatology analysis

Employment History:

Wolf Technical Services, Inc., Indianapolis, IN Meteorology Consultant (1989 to Present)

Weather research and data interpretation for attorneys, investigators and other technical personnel as well as radar analysis and short term forecast. Able to locate and obtain micro-climatology reports specifically related to the accident site. Extrapolation of weather conditions at the incident site based on reports from surrounding observation stations.

WISH-TV, Indianapolis, Indiana

Reporting the weather during multiple station programs. (1984 to Present)

KTVY-TV, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma

Presented weekend weather and was back-up for prime time newscasts. (1982 – 1984)

WDTN – TV, Dayton, Ohio

Weekend weatherman as well as a broadcaster on various stations around the country for our forecasting firm called Weathercheck. (1979 – 1982)

WSAW – TV, Wausau, Wisconsin

Broadcasting the weather three times a day Monday through Friday. Public Affairs Director with the four minute Good Morning Show that aired daily. (1978 – 1979)

TV 6, DeKalb, Illinois

Weatherman on the Noon Report and TV 6 News Program. Broadcasts presented five day a week to Dekalb/Sycamore area via Warner Cable Co. (1976 to 1978)

Randall D. Ollis

Page Two

Education:

Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, Illinois 1978
Bachelor of Science

34 hours of Meteorology or Climatology related courses

12 hours of Speech and Communication courses

Minor: Business Administration

Wheaton College, Wheaton, Illinois 1974 – 75

Graduated: Elgin High School, Elgin, Illinois 1974

Affiliations and Honors:

Sons of American Revolution (SAR) – Recipient (HS)

Mae Ekvall Memorial Scholarship (HS)

Member of American Meteorological Society

American Meteorological Society Television Seal of Approval